Program or Field Office: Advanced Research Projects Agency - Energy

Project Title: (0290-1731) University of Southern California - Iron-Air Rechargeable Battery for Grid-Scale Energy Storage

Location: California

Proposed Action or Project Description:

American Recovery and Reinvestment Act:

Funding will support laboratory and bench-scale research and development on a high performance iron-air battery for use in grid-scale energy storage applications. The proposed work is consistent with the goal of GRIDS: development of new technologies to enable the widespread deployment of cost-effective, grid-scale energy storage.

Proposed work consists entirely of RD&D work to be completed in USC's laboratory and research facilities in Los Angeles, CA and the NASA Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, CA. The work performed will be limited to bench-scale design, analysis, and development.

Categorical Exclusion(s) Applied:

X - B3.6 Siting/construction/operation/decommissioning of facilities for bench-scale research, conventional laboratory operations, small-scale research and development and pilot projects
